

Matthew Corcoran

MD | United States

Medical Director for Shore Physicians Group Endocrinology, New Jersey

Dr. Matthew Corcoran earned his undergraduate degree from Boston College and his medical degree from Georgetown University School of Medicine before completing his internship and residency in internal medicine, followed by a fellowship in Diabetes, Endocrinology & Metabolism at the University of Chicago Hospitals. He is board-certified in Diabetes, Endocrinology, and Metabolism and currently serves as Medical Director for Shore Physicians Group Endocrinology in South Jersey.
Dr. Corcoran is the founder and president of the non-profit Diabetes Training Camp, a unique clinical resource devoted entirely to providing general fitness and multi-sport camps and services for teens and adults with diabetes. The mission of Diabetes Training Camp is to inspire, motivate, and educate through customized programs and coaching that empower people with diabetes to thrive.

Recognized nationally and internationally for his expertise in diabetes, exercise, and sport, Dr. Corcoran speaks nationally on these topics. He has worked extensively with recreational and endurance athletes with diabetes and has consulted with high school, collegiate, Olympic, and professional athletes living with type 1 diabetes.
Dr. Corcoran was honored by the American Diabetes Association as one of twelve diabetes “Game Changers” in the 2016 People to Know edition of Diabetes Forecast. He was again recognized as a Castle Connolly Top Doctor in 2026 and has been consistently named a “Top Doctor” by Philadelphia Magazine and Jersey’s Best Magazine from 2019–2025.

A gifted speaker and educator, Dr. Corcoran is deeply committed to advocacy and education for people living with diabetes.
