

Professor Julia Mader

Austria

Professor of Diabetes Technology at Medical University of Graz and Deputy Head of the Diabetes Outpatient Clinic

dexcom

PERSONALISED GUIDANCE powerful results*

Julia Mader is a Full Professor of Diabetes Technology at Medical University of Graz and Deputy Head of the Diabetes Outpatient Clinic. She graduated from the Medical University of Graz where she also trained in Internal Medicine and Endocrinology. She was a Visiting Professor at the University Hospital of Bern, Switzerland (2016-2017). She leads the Diabetes Technology Research Unit at Medical University of Graz..

Her research focuses on diabetes technology (insulin pumps, continuous glucose monitoring, automated insulin delivery system, diabetes management in the hospital and decision support systems). She has published over 230 peer-reviewed scientific papers. She has received several national and international awards. She is honorary secretary and board member of the Austrian Diabetes Society and is executive board member of the EASD and chairs EASD's Training and Education Committee.

*Results with Dexcom CGM have been proven in over 70 clinical studies, data available on clinicaltrials.gov. Dexcom Data on File, 2026.